An autumnal adventure delivering the classic ingredients of a Fred. Olsen cruise. Overnight stays afford more time to explore; sailing the Seine is smaller ship river cruising at its most exquisite; and there’ll be time to enjoy the renowned on board service, too.

After meandering the Seine, passing by waterside houses and quaint villages, Rouen is a window into French history, notably in the fateful square where Joan of Arc was burned. Within reach from the city is the Claude Monet House and Gardens. In pretty Honfleur, the tall, colourful guild houses and glistening harbour provide a memorable finale.
